Cold Comfort.

All is far from being serene for "Josiah." The Asheville Pioneer, the ablest Radical paper in the State, thus repels his loving advances:

· He has the effrontery to ask and crave the support of those he has abused, villified and maligned. There may be a few Republicans who will be craven enough to kiss the hand that smote them, and support him in his aspirations for Congressional honors, but we believe the manly many in the Metropolitan District, whose recollections have not forsaken them, and proud of their past devotion to Republican principles, will refuse to elevare this blatant demago que to place, simply because he has changed his front.

The Republican party of that district is hardly in a minority. It has in the past elected a Republican to Congress. and with the right man and judicious management, it can be politically retrieved. But not by supporting Joe Turner. Should evil advice and counsel prevail, and no candidate on our side be put forward, it will destroy the Republican organization in that Disrict, for we are sure that there are housands of Republicans who would prefer the amiable Davis or the brave and honest Cox, with all their Demoratic instincts, rather than see this burly agitator and demagogue elevated to an honorabe position by their votes.'

All of which confirms the belief we have entertained from the beginning, that, while the Radical leaders hereabouts are patting Mr. Turner on the back and encouraging him to persist in his candidacy, they are only doing so in the hope of causing defection in the Democratic party, and that, at the opportune moment, they will throw him overboard and nominate a candidate of their own. They all feel as does the Elitor of the Pioneer, -only he is not in the secret of their strategy and therefore speaks out in meeting most to

Any Democrats in this District, who entertain the idea of voting for Mr. Turner, will soon realize the fact, if they do not now, that such a vote will not only be thrown away, so far as helping him goes, but that it will be virtually a vote for a Radical representative to the next Congress .- a Congress which will have to count the vote for the next Presidency and may have to elect the President. Our faith in the gallant Democracy of the District is too strong for us to doubt, for a moment, their patriotic sense of duty in the face of such facts and probabilities. Mr. Turner's agrarian appeals to the negro, and his amorous embraces of the men whom he has so unmeasuredly denounced in the past, will avail him nought. They will all, white and black, lead him on and cajole him, until they have matured their plans, and then leave him, an object-we were going to say of "commiseration," but that his extraordinary course has been such as to deprive him of even that poor con-

AND now we have another "Richmond in the field," in the person of Moses A Bledsoe, Esq., who announces himself as a candidate for Congress in this District. It is reported by some that he is a candidate absolutely; by others, that his candidacy is subject to the decision of the Radical Convention, or of the Radical District Executive Committee. Hardly of the Committee, we imagine, as that is composed mainly of white Republicans, and the white managers, generally, it is well known, (probably fearing a powerful "coming" rival in controlling the negro vote,) gave Bledsoe the cold shoulder at the late election in this county. However, this is no concern of ours. The Democrats in this District are going to send a Democrat to Congress, to assist in accomplishing the great reforms embodied in their platform of principles, and to aid in the election of a Democratic President in 1880.

In the absence from Washington of the Attorney-General, Hon. S. F. Phillips, Solicitor General, is representing the Department of Justice in all Cabinet meetings.

The crops of cotton and corn, in this and adjoining counties, have greatly improved since the recent rains, and there will be a much larger yield than was at one time expected; though full crops of neither will be made, owing to the cool and backward spring, and the late drought in June and July. Then they go immediately to bed, and in 15 minutes are burn-

The disease has different effects upon different persons. Some are detirious, requiring two or three persons to hold them in bed and keep them covered. Others fall into a stupor, and are never conscious again. Some die within 24 hours after being taken down; others on the nursing. The fever lasts from dumbfounded at its malignity and often, after the seventh and ninth days, and where great precaution is taken, the patient dies within an hour or two. There is a great lack of ice, lemons, beef tea and in fact, of all kinds of medicines and nourishment. Six per cent. of the population are dead. Money to pay nurses and other expenses is badly needed. No one has dared to enter the town for several days. When we are gone, God only knows what will become of the stricken.

and the death-rate in the past 24 hours. No rain has fallen yet, but the cloudy, damp, and very close atmosphere of last night and this morning has done the work. The new cases reported to-day indicate a disposition on the part of the disease to spread southwardly, which is contrary to the opinions expressed by leading physicians. Two of the new cases are on Linden street, and possibly the sufferers may have caught the infection in the infected district, or by contact with persons in street cars, or in moving people from the infected district. All the street cars, which continue to run, notwithstanding there is not an officer of the road in the city, penetrate the yellow fever district and part of the city to the southern suburbs a small discription of its situation, the or to encampments outside the city limits. If the disease does not spread to all parts of the city it will be a marvel. will be tenderly cared for. The great increase in the number of new cases to-day has renewed the alarm. It was hoped that the disease had departed with the panic stricken refugees, and to-night the streets of the city appear even more desolate than in 1873, when the death rate was four-feld greater than now. Even the negro population, who had rejoiced under the hallucination that their race was ex mpt from the malady, are becoming alarmed, and as many as can do so are leaving the city, and those remaining are less boisterous and insulting than a week ago. The unfavorable reports of to-day had also the effect to drive from the infected districts many who had previously refused to go into camp, thus lessening the material for the fever to feed upon.

Many affecting incidents have occurred. One of them is told in a letter from a woman received by Mr. Langstaff, of the Howard Association, today. She wrote: "Husband is dead. Please send or Catawba Springs.

Correspondence of the News. CATAWBA SPRINGS, August 22. Arriving here after a tiresome journey through the western part of the State, a short time since, I felt that I could exclaim in the language of the old hymn, "This is the place I long have sought, etc." I fear an attempt to describe the uatural beauty and the health giving waters of Catawba Springs would be a hundreds of wagons pass through the thoroughfares every day loaded with the goods of those fleeing from that mine; but I cannot refrain from giving courtesy of its officers, its delightful baths, and lastly, but not least, the elegant fare which we receive at our meal

FACILITIES FOR BATHING. We have two large bath houses-the plunge and shower bath, and the hot and cold sphur; the latter recently constructed, and is simply elegant. These baths are enjoyed (both plunge and sulphur) by both ladies and gentlemen. We have some very fine swimmers amongst the ladies, which is quite a curiosity to many who are here, coming, as they do, from the interior. HOW THE TIME IS SPENT.

Immediately after breakfast a majoriv of the ladies repair to the tea-pin alley, and remain there, rolling, until about 12 o'clock, after which they repair to the hotel and have a concert or a game of cards, or a nap, before dinner. After dinner a general nap is taken until about 5, when the bath ng commences. After which time a drive or a stroll through the woods until tea. SWIFT CREEK LETTER.

Earnest Support for Davis--The Beautort Elevated Railway ... Failure of the Enterprise.

Correspondence of the News. SWIFT CREEK, Aug. 22. Whatever any true Democrat's opposition might have been against the Hon. Jos. J. Davis before his nomination by our late District Convention, we are sure it will be forgetten. We all know that we could not have a purer or more popular candidate; we have no child's play before us, and we will need purses as well as voices. All this cannot be considered too soon, and we now call the attention of our Executive Committee to this fact.

Your correspondent promised to tell you of the enterprise in which he engaged in the town of Beaufort, in comabout four feet high, which, in the available; but what kind of vehicle could be used was the question. Mr. Dixon hearing of the Doctor's wants, formed a joint stock company, one of whom was your correspondent to carry out the Doctor's project, and with his consent he employed a truck cart, which on which fitted the railing or railroad exactly. For motive power he employed a large negro to hold the shafts. The cart was hoisted to the top and after a few experiments which were successful, we decided to launch out for the hotel, the car would not seat but five (Messrs. Dixon, engineer, McAdoo, Freeland, Holt and News correspondent), but the spectators were numerous. All progressed smoothly at a slow pace until the engineer put more steam on and the tide being up and the Bagby guage wrong at that point, cart and passengers went into the Sound; this is my experience on the Dixon Esevat d Railroad and a suit of ruined broadcloth. I do not think your correspondent would have entered on the trip but for the courtesies which had been extended also your instructions to be always on

An Unfounded Rumor.

The following letter has been handed in, with the request that it be published, and the News cheerfully gives it a place in its columns, especially as it corrects an erroneous report in refer-

Campaign Versicles.

It was Fletcher, of Saltoun, who said: "Give me the making of a nation's ballads, and I care not who make its laws." There was philosophical force and a knowledge of the human heart in the saying. It is a wellknown fact that campaign poetry has always played an important part in political contests, just as martial and patrictic lyrics, like the Marsellaise, Dixie and the Star Spangled Banner, have stirred the hearts and aroused the enthusiasm of men on the eve of battle. The rouising refrain of

"Tippecanoe and Tyler too" was worth hundreds of thousands of votes to the Whig party of 1840, and we think it probable that the execrable rhymes that were sought to be consorted with "Frelinghuysen," in 1844, worked a serious detriment to noble old Harry of the West.

Who will send us the first campaign song of the Congressional fight? Where is the Bard of Rhamkatte? A few •jingles would wondrously relieve the dull and arid monotony of discussion tion, remonetization, syndicates, et id omne. We throw out a few hints for the guidance of essayists in this line : "Josiah" and "Purifier," in view of the great Brindle-tail's professions, would do to begin with, while "expire" would ring prophetically in a final stat za. "Mire" would fitly describe the depth to which he has descended in conciliating the negroes, while "tire" would feebly convey an idea of the disgust and impatience with which people are compelled to listen to "the same

And then there is Bledsoe,-a difficult name for versification, we admit, but "Moses" has been the theme of song since the days of the inspired anthem of Miriam. The "War of the Roses" could be felicitously brought in to illustrate the efforts of "Moses" to contest the Radical palm with Turner; while "noses" might well be turned as apropos to the unseemly scramble of two lately so-called independent Democrats to prove which is the best Republican,-Heaven save the mark!

Or if Judge Reade should be trotted out, "steed" would exactly come in,with whatever prefix you like, whether mettled or spavined, according to the taste or point of view of the versifier. "Greed" or "gone to seed" might answer, though we protest against even playful personalities against a gentleman about whose shoulders the ermine has so recently been wrapped.

Our individual contribution is:

Three times three for Joseph Davis, For he is just the man to save us.

The rhyme is not perfect, it must be confessed, but then there is prediction and "more truth than poetry" in it, and so we will let it go !

Hon. Joseph J. Davis on the Finances.

On the 13th day of November, 1877the House of Representatives having under consideration the bill to repeal the Resumption Act,-Mr. Yeates, of the floor, but yielded a portion of his time to the Hon. Joseph J. Davis. We have reason to know that Mr. Davis, on this occasion, spoke entirely without in so forcible and striking a manner as to command earnest attention. We shall publish some extracts from that speech, as reported in the Congressional Record of the next day, not only to show Mr. Davis' alignment with the Democratic record on the absorbing questions of finance, currency and kindred matters, but that he was one of the earliest members of the Forty-fifth make room for the following passages $10. Oh! but, he says, there was legis to-day, and will give others in our next issue: "I am obliged to my friend and colleague, [Mr. Yeates,] by whose kindness and courtesy I occupy the floor at act demonetizing silver passed? By this time. I am the more obliged to fraud? Honorable gentleman on that him because this is one of the most important questions which can engage the attention of Congress, and one which demands our most careful con deration, and because I wish to say some things on this subject which may at least serve to warn the public creditor and in the press. Everybody had been thousands, ay, hundreds of thousands of appealing to the people to right this of our citizens; a policy which has paralyzed labor, industry, and enter-prise, which are the only sources of dread them half as much as I would national wealth and prosperity; a policy that lobby of the bankers and bondwhich has sown poverty and distress holders which in former times influbroadcast all over the land; a policy enced the legislation of Congress. I which has brought want, and in many shall not dread that half million of men instances, pinching hunger to families of thousands and hundreds of thousands of laboring-men who seek and cannot find renumerative employment.

Sir, gentlemen on the other side of the House speak of prosperity and say we are within reach of it, and that it will come with resumption. It reminds me of one of the fables of the Greek philosopher: One Scholasticos was anxious to teach his ass to live without foo l, and just about the time, as he said, he had taught him to live without food, he died. So it is here, at the time when our people are suffering under poverty, crushing poverty and bank-ruptcy, we are told that we are just within the reach of prosperity.

Sir, has there not ruin, certain ruin, been brought to the country? Is there not distress? The man who has ears to hear, the man who has eyes to see but cannot perceive this, must be blind indeed, must be deaf indeed.

What is the cause of this? Everybody, Mr. Speaker, can tell when a man is sick. Everybody can tell when the country is in distress. It requires no medical skill to do that. It requires no science or knowledge. Everybody can see when the body lies prostrate with fever; its quickened pulse and parched tongue tell it is about to die. But perhaps everybody cannot tell what the remedy is. Everybody can tell when he sees a man reeling in drunkenness and everybody can tell him that if he stops drinking he can get sober. Now, if you know what the disease is, if you know what produces it, what is the cause, then it is a very easy matter to apply the remedy. Let us see what is the cause of this disease which has brought so much distress upon the country. It is to be found in the financial policy now prevailing, which has enriched the few and impoverished

While it is the duty of the Government to coin money and regulate the value thereof, and while it has been held in these latter days to be in the constitutional power of Congress to make legal-tenders of paper money as well as of coin-I say while that has been held to be legal, it must become more and more the duty of the Government to give to the country a good financial system which will be just to all classes and meet the demands of a great industrial people, such as we are.

What has been done? In the first place there is a banking law which gives a monopoly of ing business to the national bond-holders. This law, by a tax of 10 per cent. on the circulation of all banks, other than national banks, gives them the exclusive privilege of banking, and the tax was imposed solely for this purpose. It was not for revenue, for not one cent of revenue is realized.

It is an unjust and odious discrimination preventing all free competition, which is the life of all free and healthful trade, thus giving to one class of men the power to control absolutely the currency of the country.

You may have your gold, but you cannot bank upon it. You may have your land, but you cannot bank upon it. You may have any other species of and cannot get credit upon it. yet the gentleman from New York, (Mr. Chittenden), who spoke yesterday, said he was in favor of free banking, and that would bring relief to the country. His free banking is a tax of 10 per cent., on all other banks except national banks, and nobody to bank except those who can get the national bonds. That is what my friend on the other side of the House means by free banking. If he means there should be competition in this as in every other business, and that it should regulate itself by the law of supply and demand, there is no difference between him and myself. Save us from his kind of free banking! We have had it for fift en years and it has laid the country prostrate and in ruin.

Another evil has been contraction. and contraction in a wonderful degree. I heard on this floor to-day a gentleman with whom I have not the honor of an acquaintance [Mr. Bacon] declare that he was in favor of honest money, and that his State was in favor of honest money. The gentleman from New York [Mr. Chittenden] yesterday said that half a million of his constituents were ready to come down here and protest in the name of honesty against our action on the silver question. Honest money! Why, sir, are not the "greenbacks" honest money? The gentleman held up one of them yesterday. Is not this honest money? If it is not, pray tell me where are the men who put it upon the country? Were they dishonest? Does the gentleman mean to insinuate that this money, put into the hands of the people by an act of Con-gress, contaminates the holder, and that it is a fraud and a sham to use it in paying private or public debts? The gentleman from New York [Mr. Chittenden] has said it was a fraud and a

Who enacted the sham, and who perpetrated the fraud, and upon whom was the fraud perpetrated? The gentleman from New York talks about gentlemen on this side speaking nonsense, and having passion and temper. I think, Mr. Speaker, if the gentlemen on the other side would be less angry it would be better for them. Why, sir, these gentlemen are only mad because with one of their gold dollars they cannot buy twice as much as you can with one greenback dollar. That is the cause of the anger. I hold in my hands one of those greenbacks. It is of the series of 1869. When issued this promise to pay $10 was worth $7.50. It is the First Congressional District, had worth now $9.30, and yet it is a "dirty rag," "a sham," nothing in eyes jaundiced by yellow gold. No, sir, my friends are angry because we are about to take it out of their power to make one of their gold dollars worth two of preparation, but he presented his views greenbacks; or in other words to give to their gold double the purchasing power which the money of the people

Then there is another thing. The gentleman from New York said yesterday that it was a breach of faith-and that is a very serious charge—that it was a breach of faith to pay these debts now in this money. Why, sir, he said it was "repudiation." Again I point the gentleman to this greenback which I hold in my hand. There it is. Does it fix any time when it is to be paid? Congress to originate that record. We It does not. But it promises to pay lation fixing when it should be paid. But how was that legislation brought about? Let the gentle from Pennsylvania [Mr. KELLY] tell. By a party caucus, he said. And, sir, how was the side of the House have intimated as much. Why, Mr. Speaker, the measure which was passed on the 4th of November had been publicly discussed upon every stump in the land; it had been discussed both before the people and the capitalist of the danger to them as well as to the mass of the people of the country in a financial policy which has brought bankruptcy and ruin to the wrong done to the people and the west down to the wrong done to the people and the west down the wrong done to the people and the when the doctors failed the west when the doctors failed the west down. great wrong, I tell him to bring down his half million of men, and I shall not so much, because I do not dread the enemy who fights with open hand, for I can meet him in battle; but I do dread the insidious lobby which comes around with bankers' money to influence the legislation of Congress. The day of Credit Mobilier, " realestate pools," of "Black Fridays"—those days of darkness and disgrace-have passed by, and such things have no influence upon this Congress. We have discharged our duty; we have restored to the people, as far as this House is able to do, that money which has been the currency of merchants since the days of Abraham. It remains to be seen whether the other departments of the Government will discharged their duty equally as well to the people.

The Negro Solicitor.

Collins, the negro elected by the Radical voters of this District to the responsible office of Solicitor,-an office that requires for the proper exercise of its duties the best legal training, judgment and high personal character, -has taken his official oaths before Judge Seymour and entered upon the discharge of tis functions. We shall not pre-judge the manner in which he will acquit himself, but we do say, without the slightest hesitation, that the election of such a man to such a position is an outrage for which the people should hold the Radical party to a full responsibility. It is a proceedng which is calculated to bring the legal profession into disrepute, however unjustly, and that must weaken the popular confidence in the administration of law and justice. As such we seriously deplore it.

This, however, is one of the steps towards that "purification" about which Mr. Turner declaims so lustily, and Colins is one of those whom Mr. Turner invites to "purify" the Democratic

"Press On !"

This story is told of an incident in he late war :

A battle was raging, and a messer ger came up and said to his general, 'General, we have taken a standard of the enemy !"

The General kept on talking with another officer, as though he did not hear it, and the messenger said again, 'General, we have taken a standard of the enemy!"

The General did not seem to pay any attention to it until the third time the messenger cried out, "General, we have taken a standard of the enemy!" The General looked back and said-"Then take another."

Friends of the Fourth Congressional District, we took the standards of the on finances, greenbacks, demonetiza-tion remonetization syndicates et id property other than those national bank upon it enemy in 1874 and in 1876. Let us press on now, in compact column, with no unworthy dissensions, and "take another!"

The communication of "Bourbon" came to hand after its appearance in a city contemporary, and therefore would be out of place in our columns now. Besides, the writer will remember that we were quoting Judge Thurman's utterances and not giving our own; and further that we have no responsibility for the views of the Wilmington Journal several years ago.

Turned Over.

The Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad Company, having failed for six months past to comply with their con-tract in regard to the convicts in their employ, have surrendered them to the Penitentiary Board, who have turned them over to the W. N. C. Railroad. Want of means, it is said, induced this step on the part of the former Road. The number of convicts thus turned over is about 125, and constitutes a very important addition to Maj. Wilson's force. He will now probably be able to reach Asheville by the 1st of January, next.

A Noble Band of Workers.

The Young Men's Christian Association is well known as among the most devoted of beneficial associations. The society has been organized for many years and ever increases in its deeds of generosity and kindness. It has ex isted here for some years, and it has been its chief care to minister to the needs and sufferings of the poor during the chilly winter. The work has been conducted for the most part unostentatiously, but has been even all the more earnest and vigorous. Though of-ten sadly cramped for means, same way of giving aid has always been found in the darkest hours. For over two years the Association has added to its charge the care of the Sabbath school at the State Penitentiary.

Each Sunday afternoon a chosen band of teachers go thither and teach the convicts the scriptures, while all unite in singing hymns. The most elegant stock of Fin , Silverware crockery and China in the State. Raleigh aug w25-tf THE MOST WONDERFUL DIS-COVERY OF THE AGE!

FACTS ARE STUBBORN THINGS The following is from the Raleigh News, and was a voluntary insertion and not an advertisement:

"Years ago an old Indian left a receipt for curing Scrofula with Mrs. Person's father. Mrs Person lives at Franklinton, or in that section. A child was born to Mrs. Person, Mrs Person lives at Franklinton, or in that section. A child was born to Mrs. Person, and it had the scrotula. The doctors gave it up to die. She thought of that receipt, that was now old and musty, and hid away in an upstairs orawer. She concluded if the child was bound to die, it wouldn't hurt to follow that receipt. She went out and gathered the herb, got the whisky, and did as directed to the child. Her child now lives well and hearty. More than this: Oaly a few months since a South Carolinian, whose name has slipped us, was suffering with some scrofulous affection on the heel. He had been to the Hot Springs in Arkansas, and from there he went to Kittrell Springs. Nothing did him any good. At Kittrell's they told him of Mrs. Person if she cured that South Carolinian her receipt was worth money. And the South Carolinian sent her word if she cured him he would give her five hundred dollars. She sent him directions what to do, and added if they cured him he could send her twenty-five dollars; she wouldn't ask five hundred. The South Carolinian went home, and shortly afterward sent Mrs. Person a check for twenty-five dollars, and wrote the most grateful letter he knew how. Bless those old Indians! We would like to have one for a near neighbor."

The above receipt has been tried by me with the most unprecedented success for the last tweive years, and I have no hesitation in recommending it as a sovereign cure for Scrofula, and as a general Tonic and Blood Purifier, it is everywhere giving perfect satisfaction. While my experience with at is too faction. While my experience with it is too limited for me to specially recommend it for other diseases, I believe it will ultimately prove to be of benefit in all cases arising from impurity of the blood, and probably for other diseases. Incuseurs.

Incuseurs, N. C., May 22, 1878.

Mrs. Jor Person:

The medicine I purchased of you last winter proved of lasting benefit to my son. He was troubled with twenty-seven running sores, some of them quite large, and of a Scrofulous nature. In less than three weeks after commencing the use of your Remedy he was perfectly restored, and is to-day quite well and healthy. As A Tonic and Blood Purifier IT HAS NO EQUAL. Hoping that you may be spared for many years of usefulness, I remain,

Very Respectfully,

T. J. STOKES.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 12, 1878.

MRS. JOE PERSON.

Dear Madam, I have been using your Remedy for Scrofula over five months as an experiment for cancer. The cancer is of long standing the Doctors have been treating it, more or less, for twelve years, it has taken off my upper lip and a good part of my nose. When I began to use your Remedy it was growing rapidly worse, but the medicine appeared to check it very soon, and it has not made much progress since, except about two months ago, the medicine gave out, and I was without several days. It then seemed to start anew, and grew worse very fast, until I had taken the medicine about a week, since then it has not changed much. I think FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 12, 1878.

to start anew, and grew worse very fast, until I had taken the medicine about a week, since then it has not changed much. I think if I could have had the medicine soon enough, it would have cured me.

For more than a year before using your medicine, I was troubled very much with a disease of the heart, an irregularity in its action. It would miss every third beat for hours, then at other times it would increase its action, and run up to 200 beats per minute. Since using your medicine I am almost entirely relieved of this, rarely feel it, and then not enough to speak of it. I would recommend any one suffering with heart disease to try y ur medicine. As a Tonic and Alterative, I do not think it has any superior. I have been using all the most powerful Alteratives known to the medical profession for the last 12 years, and I know of none superior to this. I think your medicine is destined to be a great blessing to the afflicted. Let every one that needs a Tonic or an Alterative give it a trial, and I do not think they will be disappointed.
